- 1. A bridge on the park that originally opened in 1923, but was renamed in 1942.
 - a. MacArthur Bridge
- 2. On the west side of the park a place where you can sit and enjoy the daffodils in April.
 - a. Sunset Pointe
- 3. A building on the island that does not match its name.
 - a. The Casino
- 4. A building originally built in 1898 as a bicycle rental pavilion.
 - a. The Athletic Field House
- 5. 90-foot tower that was named after Detroit News advice columnist, Nancy Brown.
 - a. Nancy Brown Peace Carillon Tower
- 6. This fish is known for jumping out of the water to hunt for its food. It shares a tank with two other different fish at the BIA.
 - a. Silver Arowana
- 7. These fish are known for having BIG personalities. At the BIA you will find this fish always in a couple.
 - a. Giant Gourami
- 8. Plant that resembles a certain type of hole-y cheese.
 - a. Monstera
- 9. Eating is hard for the slowest species at the BIA because they do not have teeth or stomachs.
 - a. Lined seahorse
- 10. During Africa's dry season, this fish can live out of water for months on end.
 - a. African Lungfish
- 11. When in bloom, this plant looks like it is floating on air
 - a. Chinese lantern
- 12. This fish is known to have an extra set of jaws and teeth located in their throat. It's always a special surprise when the aquarists can bring it out of hiding for their feeding.
 - a. Laced Moray Eel
- 13. The red bridge on the island that is a MUST for all photoshoots.
 - a. Queen's Bridge
- 14. The most asked about plant in the Conservatory a true show stopper.
 - a. Canary Island Date Palm
- 15. The fuzzy features on this plant are what gave it their name.
 - a. Old Man Catus
- 16. The Women's National Farm & Garden Association, Michigan Division created a whole day around this flower.
 - a. Daffodil

- 17. The only kind in this plant species that actually produces a fruit.
 - a. Vanilla Orchid
- 18. Native to the Black and Caspian Seas, this fish is actually invasive to our Great Lakes.
 - a. Round Goby
- 19. Averaging around 6 feet long in size, this is the largest species of gar.
 - a. Alligator Gar
- 20. Possibly the most popular attraction at the Conservatory....hint: it has 4 legs!
 - a. Pavo
- 21. This building is actually the third version, the first one was built all the way back in 1839.
 - a. Belle Isle Boat House
- 22. Back in the day, you could go ice skating right next to this building.
 - a. Flynn Pavillion
- 23. The largest fish found in the Great Lakes.
 - a. Sturgeon
- 24. In this species of fish, the females are actually naturally larger than the males.
 - a. Longnose Gar